S. N. STIMSON RESIGNS.
Will Go to His Home in Massachusetts October 1—Successor Soon.

S. N. Stimson, the county agricultural agent, has resigned his position to take effect October 1. The executive committee of the Farmers' association has accepted his resignation and expect to be able to announce his successor within a week.

Mr. Stimson has put in nearly three years of hard work in getting the association organized and self-supporting. Probably his greatest success has been in securing chemicals for the farmers and organizing seven cow testing stations within the county. He plans to go to his farm in Palmer, Mass., for the present and possibly later take up government work nearer his home.

COUNTY FAIR OPEN

Racing Program Begins This Afternoon With Large Number of Entries. Gambling Eliminated

The 65th annual Caledonia County fair opened yesterday morning with the usual small attendance and with rather light exhibits in cattle and driving and draft horses. On the other hand there is an unusually large number of race horses on the ground, the new sheds and the old racing barn being practically full. The racing begins this afternoon. The 2:35 pace has 21 entries and the 2:18 trot-2:22 pace has 12 entries. Three races will be given Thursday afternoon: the 2:25 pace with 21 entries, the 2:18 pace with 15 entries and the 2:22 trot with 12 entries. Three more races will be given on Friday the closing day. They are: the 2:29 pace, 2:25 trot with 24 entries, the 2:30 trot with five entries and the 2:13 pace with nine entries. So the prospect for good racing is bright.

Another feature of the fair is the elimination of the paddle and wheel games. This makes the midway somewhat thinly populated but will save lots of money for the visitors.

Superintendent Harold Penniman says the show of poultry is the largest ever on the ground and every bird shown is owned in the county. The pens are arranged so it will give good light for all the birds.

In the horse sheds A. Osgood of West Danville shows the Hambletonian stallion Aceful, C. C. Johnson of St. Johnsbury Center shows a good colt, E. A. Darling has a fine Morgan mare with colt by her side, Harry Okott of Kirby has a gentleman's driver, R. H. Burke of West Burke has a gentleman's driver and a pair of draft horses and V. V. Vance of North Danville has a broad mare and colt.

In the cattle sheds the Theodore N. Vail School of Agriculture is showing 12 Holsteins, with the bull Sir Changeling Butter Boy De Kol weighing 2,200 pounds at its head and the yearling bull, King Walker Segis, of Lyndon, also 15 head of the fine brown Swiss cattle.

J. E. Parker of North Danville is showing 13 Holsteins with the three year old bull Stenisma Pontiac Wit-boorn at its head.

J. C. Cassidy of Goss Hollow is showing a grade bull and pair of steers.

George C. Cary is again in the ring with short-horns. His herd is headed by a two year old bull weighing 1,900 pounds. Mr. Cary does not keep cattle unless they are good ones and his group will attract much attention.

H. E. Morrison of Orford, N. H., has the only cattle from outside of the county in a herd of 12 Herefords, headed by the bull, Tippecanoe the Ninth.

Dr. J. M. Allen has 3 nice Holstein calves from Crestmont Farm. There promises to be more competition in Jerseys than any other class of cattle and as a result the judging of these was postponed until this morning.

FIVE MORE MATURED ENDOWMENT POLICIES

August 1st five more policies matured as endowments, two in this place, two in an adjoining town and one in Massachusetts. This makes 115 that I have paid in a little over five years and as far as known, every single one was absolutely satisfactory.

This year's cash dividend on these policies is a trifle over 40%—more than last year, or any year before.

When does your endowment mature? Don't you want to start one and get the protection and the investment started, while you are all right and insurable? There is always a time when you can't get insurance you know. The old State Mutual is a grand company, none better, few as good

HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Hatch Charged With Murder In The First Degree At Preliminary Hearing—Pleads Not Guilty.

Harlow W. Hatch, who shot and killed Sumner Brown on the evening of July 18, was taken before Judge Frye of the municipal court last Friday and charged with murder in the first degree. He pleaded not guilty and the state presented three witnesses after which Judge Frye bound him over to appear at the December term of county court to be held without bail. His case at that time will go before a special grand jury and if an indictment is returned he will be tried at that term. Simonds and Searles appeared for Hatch and State's Attorney Norton and Attorney General Barber for the state.

Fred S. Harriman was the first witness called. He told of being called to Hatch's pool room the evening of July 18 and finding Sumner Brown dead on the floor, that Hatch was missing and the officers traced him as far as the dry bridge on lower Railroad street when all trace of him was lost until he was found at the house of James Hatch in Barret the following Tuesday evening. Hatch appeared much depressed at the time and said he had been hiding in an old barn near his uncle's residence. He also told somewhat of the arrest and bringing Hatch to the local jail.

Dr. W. G. Rieker was the next witness and he told of being called to Hatch's pool room about 3:30 p. m. Sunday, July 18, to see the body of Sumner Brown who had been shot. Life was extinct when he reached the place. He found a bullet wound between the second and third ribs just to the right of the breast bone. They were unable to probe the wound then but at the autopsy it was found the bullet went through the arch of the aorta and lodged near the left shoulder blade. There were several pints of blood in the cavity around the heart and lungs. The man died from hemorrhage caused by the bullet wound. The bullet was found and it was a 38 caliber bullet and flattened at one end caused by striking against the spine. There was no appearance of powder burns on the dead man's shirt.

Harold Stafford of Lyndon who was working in Pope's restaurant at the time of the murder was next called. He said Hatch came in through the back door about nine o'clock the evening of July 18 without hat or coat and asked if he could let him have a coat. Hatch told him he had shot a man in his pool room and had used a 38 caliber revolver. He inquired where Duffy roomed and left the restaurant. Stafford said Hatch appeared much excited. He identified Hatch as the man who had come into the restaurant. On cross examination he said he did not believe at the time Hatch had really shot anyone.

The defense offered no evidence but Mr. Simonds asked that Hatch be discharged as no evidence against him had been presented. He was followed by Mr. Searles, who argued

HAD INFANTILE PARALYSIS Little John Ide Died Very Suddenly from Dreaded Disease.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Ide lost their eldest child on Saturday after a very short illness. He had been ill since Wednesday with what seemed like some digestive disturbances and although he was weak and quite ill it was not until Saturday morning that it was found that he was suffering from infantile paralysis. By that time he was badly paralyzed and in a serious condition, passing away that afternoon at 5:30. John Rouse Ide was born here February 19, 1909, and is survived by his parents, a sister, Elizabeth, and a brother, Richard. Last December while sliding he broke both legs and has never been strong since. He was a bright, attractive lad and his early death causes much sorrow from all who knew him. There was prayer by Rev. Paul Dwight Moody at the grave at Mount Pleasant cemetery on Sunday but no funeral and the family is now in strict quarantine. This is the only case here and it is hoped there will be no more.
